SEX AND THE "NEW MAN"

"Since most of you are familiar with those two little details called the Sixth and Ninth Commandments, I'll mention the obvious things just briefly.

Don't cheat on your wife. Don't put yourself in a situation where the idea would even occur to you. Don't mislead and abuse women, and damage your own dignity as a man, by sleeping around before marriage. And if you're already doing that, or did that, or you're toying with the idea of doing it sometime in the future, stop it, now, and get to confession. Finally, don't demean your wife, your daughters, your mother and your sisters by poisoning your imagination with porn. . . . Pornography exploits and humiliates women. And it dehumanizes men at the same time. God made us to be better than that. Our families need us to be better than that." - Archbishop Charles J. Chaput of Philadelphia at Catholic men's conference.

THE PROPHETS – Messengers of God’s Mercy Session 7 – Ezekiel-God’s Watchman on the Wall

In 587 BC, cities had great walls for protection and safety of the people. Watchmen were posted to alert the citizens of impending dangers. The children of Israel let down their spiritual guard believing they were protected from enemies simply because they had Jerusalem and the Temple where God’s presence dwelled.* Their own sin and worship of other gods caused their protective wall to fall. Babylon, the world power at that time, easily conquered them and led them away into exile. It is during the exile in Babylon that God calls Ezekiel to be His “Watchman on the Wall.” The Israelites have no walled city in Babylon. What does God expect? How does Ezekiel answer this call?

For these answers and much more, join us Wednesday, April 18 at 6:30 pm in the Religious Education Building.

Are we Catholics safe from the enemy of our soul simply because we attend Mass? Can we continue in sin and doing our own thing without consequences? Listen to the cry of the “Watchman on the Wall” urging us to wake up, repent and receive the Holy Spirit.*
